

FIRST BOOK OF EZRA

CHAPTER 1

And Josiah kept the Passover to his Lord¹ in Jerusalem; they² killed the Passover lamb on the fourteenth day of the first month, 2 having placed the priests according to their divisions, arrayed in their vestments, in the temple of the Lord. 3 He told the Levites, the temple-servants³ of Israel, that they should sanctify themselves to the Lord when depositing the holy ark of the Lord inside the house that King Solomon son of David, had built; 4 and he said, “It is no longer necessary for you to carry it on your shoulders. Now worship the Lord your God and serve his people Israel; prepare yourselves by your families and tribes, 5 in accordance with the directions of King David of Israel and the magnificence⁴ of his son Solomon. And stand in order within the temple according to the divisions of the ancestral houses, as Levites who minister before your brethren, the sons of Israel. 6 And kill the Passover lamb and prepare the sacrifices for your brethren, and keep the Passover according to the commandment of the Lord that was given to Moses.”

7 Josiah provided the following to the people who were present: 30,000 lambs and kids, and 3,000 calves. As he promised, these were contributed from the king’s possessions to the people and the priests and Levites. 8 Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, the chief officers of the temple, contributed the following to the priests for the Passover: 2,600 sheep and 300 calves. 9 And Jeconiah and Shemaiah and his brother Nethanel, and Hashabiah and Ochiel and Joram, captains over thousands,⁵ contributed the following to the Levites for the Passover: 5,000⁶ sheep and 700⁷ calves.

10 This is what took place: The priests and the Levites, having the unleavened bread, stood in proper order according to tribes 11 and the divisions of the ancestral houses, before the people, to make the offering to the Lord as it is written in the book of Moses; this was done in the morning.⁸ 12 They roasted the Passover lamb with fire, as required; and they boiled the sacrifices in bronze pots and caldrons, with a pleasing odor,⁹ 13 and distributed them to all the people. Afterward they prepared the Passover for themselves and for their brethren the priests, the sons of Aaron, 14 because the priests were offering the fat until nightfall; so the Levites prepared it for themselves¹⁰ and for their brethren the priests, the sons of Aaron. 15 The temple-singers, the sons of Asaph, were in their place according to the arrangement made by David, and also Asaph, Zechariah, and Iddin, who represented the king. 16 The gatekeepers were at each gate; it was not necessary for anyone to leave his post of daily service, for their brethren the Levites prepared the Passover for them.

17 So the things pertaining to the sacrifices of the Lord were accomplished that day: the Passover was kept 18 and the sacrifices were offered on the altar of the Lord, according to the command of King Josiah. 19 And for seven days, the sons of Israel who were present at that time kept the Passover and the Festival of Unleavened Bread. 20 No Passover like it had been kept in Israel since the times of the prophet Samuel; 21 nor had any of the kings of Israel kept such a Passover as was kept by Josiah and the priests and Levites and the people of Judah and all of Israel who were living in Jerusalem. 22 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah this Passover was kept.

23 And the deeds of Josiah were upright in the sight of the Lord, for his heart was full of piety. 24 And the events of his reign were chronicled in former times: concerning those who sinned and acted impiously toward the Lord beyond any other people or kingdom, and how they grieved the Lord deeply, so that the words of the Lord fell upon Israel.

25 After all these acts of Josiah, it happened that Pharaoh, king of Egypt, went to make war at Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah went out against him. 26 And the king of Egypt sent word to him saying, “What have we to do with each other, O king of Judah? 27 I was not sent against you by the Lord God, for my war is at the Euphrates. And now the Lord is with me! The Lord is with me, urging me on! Stand aside, and do not oppose the Lord.”

28 Josiah, however, did not turn back to his chariot, but tried to fight with him, paying no attention to the words of the prophet Jeremiah from the mouth of the Lord. 29 He joined battle with him in the Plain of Megiddo, and the commanders came down¹ against King Josiah. 30 The king said to his servants, “Take me away from the battle, for I am very weak.” And immediately his servants removed him from the line of battle.² 31 He got into his second chariot; and while he was returning to Jerusalem he yielded up his life, and was buried in the tomb of his fathers.

32 And all Judah mourned for Josiah. The prophet Jeremiah composed a lament in honor of Josiah, and the principal men,³ with the women, have made lamentation for him to this day; this has become an established custom for the whole nation of Israel. 33 These things are written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah; and every one of the acts of Josiah, and his splendor, and his understanding of the law of the Lord, and both his earlier and later achievements, and these that are now told, are recorded in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

34 The men took Jehoahaz⁴ son of Josiah, who was twenty-three years old, and made him king in succession to his father Josiah. 35 He reigned three months in Judah and Jerusalem. Then the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem, 36 and fined the nation 100⁵ talents of silver and 1 talent of gold. 37 The king of Egypt made his brother Jehoiakim king of Judah and Jerusalem. 38 Jehoiakim put the nobles in prison, and seized his brother Jehoahaz⁶ and brought him back from⁷ Egypt.

39 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he began to reign in Judah and Jerusalem; he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord. 40 King Nebuchadnezzar of Babel came up against him; he bound him with a chain of bronze and took him away to Babel. 41 Nebuchadnezzar also took some holy vessels of the Lord, and carried them away, and stored them in his inner-sanctum in Babel. 42 But the things that are reported about Jehoiakim, and his uncleanness and impiety, are written in the book of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 His son Jehoiachin became king in his place. He was eight⁸ years old when he was made king, 44 and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem. And he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord. 45 At the turn of the year, Nebuchadnezzar had him brought to Babel, together with the holy vessels of the Lord, 46 and made Zedekiah king of Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah was twenty-one years old, and he reigned eleven years. 47 He also did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, and disregarded the words that were spoken by the prophet Jeremiah from the mouth of the Lord. 48 Although he swore an oath to King Nebuchadnezzar in the name of the Lord, he broke his oath and rebelled; and he stiffened his neck and hardened his heart and transgressed the laws of⁹ the Lord God of Israel. 49 Even the leaders of the people and of the priests committed many acts of sacrilege and lawlessness beyond all the unclean deeds of all the nations, and polluted the temple of the Lord—the temple which God had made holy in Jerusalem.

50 So the God¹⁰ of their fathers sent his messengers¹¹ to recall them, because he wanted to spare both them and his dwelling place. 51 But they mocked his messengers, and whenever the Lord spoke,¹² they scoffed at his prophets. 52 They did this until he, in his anger against his people on account of their depravity, incited the kings of the Chaldeans to go up against them. 53 These killed their young men with the long-sword around their holy temple, sparing neither young man nor young woman, neither old man nor child, for he gave everyone into their hands. 54 And they took all the holy vessels of the Lord, great and small, the treasure chests of the Lord, and the royal stores, and carried them away to Babel. 55 They set fire to the house of the Lord, broke down the walls of Jerusalem, set fire¹ to its towers, 56 and utterly destroyed¹ all its glorious things. The survivors he led away to Babel with the long-sword, 57 and they became slaves to him and to his sons until the Persians began to reign, in fulfillment of the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, 58 saying, “Until the land has enjoyed its sabbaths, it shall keep sabbath all the time of its desolation until the completion of seventy years.”²

In the first year of the reign of Cyrus of the Persians, in order to fulfill the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, 2 the Lord stirred up the spirit of King Cyrus of the Persians, and he made a proclamation throughout his entire kingdom,³ and which he also put in writing:

3 This is what King Cyrus of the Persians says: The Lord of Israel, the Lord Most High,⁴ has made me king of the inhabited earth, 4 and I am persuaded that he is the god whom the Israelite nation worships, for he foretold my name through the prophets,⁵ and he has commanded me to build him a house at Jerusalem, which is in the land of⁶ Judah.⁷ 5 Therefore, if any of you are of his people, may your Lord⁸ be with you; go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of the Lord of Israel—he is the Lord who dwells in Jerusalem— 6 and let each of you, wherever you may live, be helped by the people of your neighborhood⁹ with gold and silver, 7 with gifts, and with horses¹⁰ and cattle, and with other things set aside as votive offerings for the temple of the Lord that is in Jerusalem.

8 Then the family chiefs of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin arose, along with the priests and the Levites, indeed, everyone whose spirits had been stirred by the Lord, to go up to build the house in Jerusalem for the Lord. But many remained in Babel, being unwilling to leave their possessions.¹¹ 9 Their neighbors helped them with everything, with¹² silver and gold, with horses and cattle, and with a very great number of¹³ free-will offerings from many whose hearts were stirred.

10 King Cyrus also brought out the holy vessels of the Lord that Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and had stored in the shrine of his idols. 11 When King Cyrus of the Persians brought these out, he gave them to Mithredath, his treasurer, 12 and by him they were given to Sheshbazzar, the governor of Judah. 13 The number of these was: 1000¹⁴ gold dishes, 1000 silver dishes, 29 silver censers,¹⁵ 30 gold bowls, 2410¹⁶ silver bowls, and 1000 other vessels. 14 The sum of all the gold and silver vessels returned was 5469.¹⁷ 15 And they were carried back by Sheshbazzar with the returning exiles from Babel to Jerusalem.¹⁸

For this prophet had said that God told him in secret, ‘It is my will that Cyrus, whom I shall have appointed king of many great nations, shall send my people to their own land and build my house.’ Isaiah prophesied these things 140 years before the house was demolished. And so, when Cyrus read them, he wondered at the divine power and was seized by a strong desire and ambition to do what had been written. And so he summoned the most distinguished of the Judeans in Babel.”

To those among the Judeans dwelling in my country, whoever desired, I have given permission to return to their native land and to rebuild the city and build the house of God in Jerusalem on the same spot on which it formerly stood. And I have sent there my treasurer Mithredath along with the leader of the Judeans Zerubbabel, to lay the foundations of the house and build it to a height of 60 cubites and the same breadth and to make the walls of three layers of polished stone and one of their native wood, and similarly an altar on which they may sacrifice to God. The expense for these things, I desire to come out of my treasury. I have also sent the vessels which King Nebuchadnezzar took as plunder from the {{TEMPLE}}, giving them over to my treasurer Mithredath and to the leader of the Judeans Zerubbabel, to carry to Jerusalem and place them once more in the house of God. Now the number of these vessels is as follows: 50 gold wine-coolers and 400 of silver, 50 gold Thericleian cups and 400 of silver, 50 gold jars and 500 of silver, 50 gold libations bowls and 300 of silver, 50 gold cups and 2400 of silver, and 1000 other large vessels. I also grant them the honorary gift which their fathers used to receive, for cattle, wine and oil: 205,500 drachmas and 20,500 artabae of wheat for fine flour. I order these to be furnished out of the tribute from Samaria. And the priests in Jerusalem shall offer these sacrifices in accordance with the laws of Moses and, when they bring them, shall pray to God for the well-

16 In the time of King Artaxerxes of the Persians,¹ Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel,² the recorder Rehum,³ the scribe Shimshai, and the rest of their associates, living in Samaria and other places, wrote him the following letter, against those who were living in Judah and Jerusalem:

17 To King Artaxerxes⁴ our lord, your servants the recorder Rehum, and the scribe Shimshai, and the rest of their council, and the judges⁵ in Coelesyria⁶ and Phoinike:

18 Let it now be known to our lord⁷ the king that the Judeans who came up from you to us have arrived at Jerusalem⁸ and have begun to build that rebellious and wicked city, to repair its market places and walls and laying the foundations for⁹ an inner-sanctum. 19 Now if this city is built and the walls finished,¹⁰ they will not only refuse to pay tribute but will even withstand kings and seek rather to rule than to obey.¹¹ 20 And since the construction of the inner-sanctum has already begun, we think it best not to overlook such a matter,¹² 21 but to call it to the attention of our lord the king, in order that, if it seems good to you, a search may be made in the records of your fathers. 22 And you will find in the annals¹³ what has been written about them, and will learn that this city was rebellious, troubling both kings and cities, 23 and that the Judeans were rebellious and inciters of sieges in former times.¹⁴ That is why this city was laid waste until now.¹⁵ 24 Now therefore, we make known to you, O lord and king,¹⁶ that if this city is built and its walls finished, you will no longer have access to Coelesyria and Phoinike.

25 Then the king, in reply to the recorder Rehum,¹⁷ the scribe Shimshai, and the rest of their associates living in Samaria and Syria and Phoinike, wrote as follows:¹⁸

26 I have read the letter that you sent me. So I ordered search to be made into the records of my fathers,¹⁹ and it was indeed discovered that this city has resisted kings in former times,²⁰ 27 that the men within it²¹ were given to rebellion and war, and that mighty and cruel kings ruled in Jerusalem and exacted tribute from Coelesyria and Phoinike. 28 Therefore I have now issued orders to prevent these men²² from building the city, and to see to it beforehand,²³ that nothing further be done 29 and that such wicked proceedings go no further to the annoyance of kings.

30 Then, when the letter from King Artaxerxes was read, Rehum and the scribe Shimshai and their associates went quickly to Jerusalem, with cavalry and a large number of armed troops, and began to obstruct the builders. And the building of the city and²⁴ the temple in Jerusalem was discontinued until the second year of the reign of King Darius of the Persians.

Now in the first year of his reign,¹ King Darius held a great banquet for all his subjects, for all who were born in in his house, and all the nobles of Media and the satraps of² Persia, 2 and all the satraps and generals and governors that were under him in the hundred twenty-seven satrapies from Hodu to Cush. 3 And they ate and drank; and when they were satisfied they went away to their own homes to sleep,³ and King Darius went to his bedroom; he fell asleep, but woke up again.⁴

4 Then he said to the three young bodyguards, who kept guard over the person of the king,⁵ 5 “Let each of you⁶ state what one thing he thinks is strongest; and to the one whose statement seems wisest, King Darius will give magnificent gifts and great honors of victory. 6 He shall be clothed in purple, and drink from gold cups, and sleep on a gold bed, and have a chariot with gold bridles, and a turban of fine linen, and a necklace around his⁷ neck; 7 and because of his wisdom he shall sit next to Darius and shall be called Kinsman of Darius.”

8 Then each wrote his own maxim, and sealed it and put it under King Darius’ pillow. 9 And they said, “When the king wakes, they will give him the writing; and the one whose maxim the king and the three nobles of Persia judge to be wisest, will be given the prize of⁸ victory for what is written.”

10 The first wrote, “Wine is strongest.”

11 The second wrote, “The king is strongest.”

12 The third wrote, “Women are strongest, but truth is victorious over all things.”

13 When the king awoke, they took the writing and gave it to him, and he read it. 14 Then he sent and summoned all the nobles of Persia and Media and the satraps and generals and governors and prefects, 15 and he took his seat in the judgment hall, and the writing was read in their presence. 16 He⁹ said, “Call the young men, and they shall explain their maxims.”

So they were summoned. And when they came in, 17 they said to them, “Explain to us what you have written.”

Then the first, who had spoken of the strength of wine, began and said, 18 “Men, how incomparably strong is wine! It confuses the minds of all who drink it. 19 It reduces to the same level the mind of the king and the orphan or the untutored,¹⁰ of the slave and the free,¹¹ of the poor and the rich. 20 It turns every thought into feasting and mirth, and makes one forget all sorrow and debt. 21 It makes all hearts feel rich, makes one forget kings and satraps, and makes everyone talk in millions of talents.¹² 22 When men drink they forget to be friendly with friends and brethren, and before long they draw their sabers.¹³ 23 And when they recover from the wine, they arise and¹⁴ do not remember what they have done during their drunkenness.¹⁵ 24 Men, is not wine incomparably strong, since it forces men to act in this manner?” Once he had said this, he stopped speaking.

Then the second, who had spoken of the strength of the king, began to speak, 2 “Men, are not men incomparably strong, who rule over land and sea and all that is in them?¹⁶ 3 But the king is incomparably stronger; he is their lord and master, and whatever he decrees to them they obey.¹⁷ 4 If he tells them to make war upon one another, they do it. And if he sends¹ them out against the enemy, they go, and scale² mountains, and pull down³ walls, and towers. 5 They kill and are killed, and never transgress the king's command. If they win the victory, they bring everything⁴ to the king—both what they plunder, as well as everything else. 6 Likewise, there are those who neither serve in the army, nor make war,⁵ but cultivate the soil and plow;⁶ whenever they sow and reap,⁷ they bring some⁸ to the king; and they compel one another to pay taxes to the king. 7 And yet he is only one man! If he tells them to kill, they kill; if he tells them to desist, they desist; 8 if he tells them to strike, they strike; if he tells them to lay waste, they lay waste; if he tells them to build, they build; 9 if he tells them to cut down, they cut down; if he tells them to plant, they plant. 10 All his subjects and his armies obey him without delay.⁹ Furthermore, he reclines, he eats and drinks and sleeps; 11 but they stand guard around him, and no one may¹⁰ go away or withdraw¹¹ to attend to his own affairs, nor do they disobey him.¹² 12 Men, why is the king not incomparably strong, since he is to be obeyed in this fashion?"¹³ And he stopped speaking.

13 Then the third, who had spoken of¹⁴ women and truth (he was Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel from the tribe of Judah¹⁵), began to speak, 14 "Men, is not the king great, and are not men many,¹⁶ and is not wine strong? But who is their master? Who dominates them? Is it not women?"¹⁷ 15 Women have given birth to the king and to every people that rules over sea and land. 16 From women they came;¹⁸ and women brought¹⁹ up the very men who plant the vineyards which produce wine. In short, there is nothing which we do not get from them.²⁰ 17 Women make men's clothes; they bring men glory; men cannot exist without women.²¹ 18 Indeed, if men gather gold and silver or any other elegant thing, and then see a woman lovely in form and beauty, 19 they let all those things go, and gape after her, and with open mouths stare at her countenance,²² all preferring her beauty²³ to gold or silver or any other elegant thing. 20 A man leaves his own father and mother,²⁴ who brought him up, and his own country, and clings to his wife. 21 He resigns his soul to his wife, with no thought of his father or his mother or his country and often become forgetful of our best friends, and we have the courage to lose our lives by their side.²⁵ 22 Therefore you must realize that women dominate you!

"Do you not labor and toil, and bring everything and give it to women? 23 A man takes his long-sword, and proceeds to wage war, and rob and steal, and to sail the sea and rivers; 24 he faces lions, and he walks through darkness, and when he steals and robs and plunders, he brings it back to the woman he passionately desires. 25 A man loves his wife more than his father or his mother. 26 Many men have lost their minds because of women, and have become slaves because of them. 27 Many have perished, or stumbled, or sinned for the sake of women. 28 Now, then, will you not believe me?"

"Is not the king great in his power? Do not all lands fear to touch him? 29 Yet I have seen him with Apame, the king's concubine, the daughter of the illustrious Bartacus;²⁶ she would sit at the king's right hand 30 and take the crown from the king's head and put it on her own, and slap the king with her left hand. 31 At this the king would gaze at her with mouth agape. If she smiles at him, he laughs;¹ if she loses her temper with him, he flatters her, so that she may be reconciled to him.² 32 Men, how incomparably strong are women, since they can act like this?”

33 Then the king and the nobles looked at one another; and he proceeded to speak about truth, 34 “Men, are not women strong? Great is the earth, high are the heavens, and swift is the sun in its course when it races around its circuit of the heavens and returns again to its place in one day. 35 Is not the one who does these things great? But truth is great, and incomparably stronger than all things.³ 36 The whole earth appeals to truth, and the heavens bless it. And all God’s works quake and tremble, and with him⁴ there is nothing unrighteous. 37 Wine is unrighteous, the king is unrighteous, women are unrighteous, all the sons of men are unrighteous, all their works are unrighteous, and all such things. There is no truth in them and in their unrighteousness they will perish. 38 But truth endures and is⁵ strong forever, and lives and prevails forever and ever. 39 With it, there is neither partiality nor preference, but it does what is righteous instead of anything that is unrighteous or wicked. Everyone approves its deeds,⁶ 40 and there is nothing unrighteous in its judgment.⁷ To it belongs the strength and the kingship and the power and the majesty of all the ages. Blessed be the God of truth!” 41 When he stopped speaking, all the people shouted and said, “Great is truth, and incomparably strong!”

42 Then the king said to him, “Ask what you desire, even beyond what is written, and we will give it to you, for you have been found to be the wisest. You shall sit next to me, and be called my Kinsman.”

43 Then he said to the king, “Remember the vow that you made on the day when you became king, to build Jerusalem, 44 and to send back all the vessels that were taken from Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart⁸ when he began to destroy Babel, and vowed to send them back there. 45 You also vowed to build the inner-sanctum, which the Edomites⁹ and Samaritans and those of Coelesyria¹⁰ burned when Judah was laid waste by the Chaldeans. 46 And now, O lord the king, this is what I ask and request of you,¹¹ and this befits your greatness. Therefore, I pray that you fulfill the vow whose fulfillment you vowed to the King of the heavens with your own lips.”

47 Then King Darius arose and kissed him, and wrote letters for him to all the treasurers and governors and¹² generals and satraps, ordering them to grant safe conduct to him and to all who were going up with him to build Jerusalem.¹³ 48 And he wrote letters to all the governors in Coelesyria¹⁴ and Phoinike and to those in Lebanon, to cut down and¹⁵ transport cedar timber from Lebanon to Jerusalem, and to assist him in building the city. 49 He wrote in behalf of all the Judeans¹⁶ who were going up from his kingdom to Judah, in the interest of their freedom,¹⁷ that no officer or satrap or governor or treasurer should force his way into their doors; 50 that all the country that they would occupy should be free from tribute; that the Edomites¹⁸ and Samaritans and Coelesyrians¹⁹ should give up the villages²⁰ which they had taken over from the Judeans; 51 that twenty²¹ talents a year should be given for the building of the temple until it was completed, 52 and that an additional ten talents a year should be given for daily holocausts to be offered on the altar, in accordance with the commandment to make seventeen offerings; 53 and that freedom should be given to everyone who came up from Babelia to build the city, to them and to their children, as well as to the priests who came. 54 He wrote also concerning their support and the priests' vestments in which they were to minister to God.¹ 55 He decreed that the expenses for the Levites should be provided² until the day when the house would be finished and Jerusalem built. 56 He wrote that land and wages should be allocated for all the city guards.³ 57 And he sent back from Babel all the vessels that Cyrus had expropriated; everything that Cyrus had ordered to be done, he also commanded to be done and to be sent to Jerusalem.

58 When the young man departed, he lifted up his face toward the heavens in the direction of Jerusalem, and praised the King of the heavens, saying:

59 "From you comes the victory;
from you comes wisdom,
and yours is the glory.⁴
I am your slave.

60 Blessed are you,
who have given me wisdom;
I give you thanks,
O Lord of our fathers."

61 So he took the letters, and went to Babel, where he informed all of his brethren. 62 And they praised the God of their fathers, because he had given them release and permission 63 to go up and build Jerusalem and the temple that is called by his name. So they feasted, with music and rejoicing, for seven days.

CHAPTER 5

After this, the chiefs of the ancestral houses, according to their tribes, were chosen to return, along with their women and sons and daughters, and their male and female slaves, and their livestock. 2 And Darius sent with them 1,000 cavalry to take them back to Jerusalem in safety, with the music of drums and flutes;⁵ 3 all their brethren were playing instruments.⁶ And he ordered them to go up with them.

4 These are the names of the men who went up, according to their ancestral houses in the tribes, over their groups: 5 the priests, the sons of Phinehas, the sons of Aaron were⁷ Jeshua, son of Jozadak, son of Seraiah; and Joakim, son of Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, of the house of David, of the lineage of Perez, of the tribe of Judah, 6 who spoke wise words before King Darius of the Persians, in the second year of his reign, in the month of Nisan, the first month.

7 These are the Judeans who returned from their sojourn in exile, whom King Nebuchadnezzar of Babel had carried away to Babel 8 and who returned to Jerusalem and the rest of Judah, each to his own town. They came with Zerubbabel and Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Resaiah,⁸ Nahamani,⁹ Mordecai, Bilshan, Asphareth,¹⁰ Reeliah,¹¹ Rehum,¹² and Baanah, their leaders.

priests and all who had come back to Jerusalem from exile, 57 began to lay the foundation of the inner-sanctum of God on the new moon of the second month in the second year after their arrival in Judah and Jerusalem. 58 They appointed the Levites who were twenty or more years of age to have charge of the work of the Lord. And Jeshua arose, together with his sons and brethren, and his brother Kadmiel,¹ and the sons of Jeshua Emadabun,² Emadabun,² and the sons of Judah son of Eiliadun, with his sons and brethren,³ all the Levites, pressing forward the work on the house of God⁴ with a single purpose.

So the builders built the inner-sanctum of the Lord. 59 And the priests stood arrayed in their vestments, with musical instruments and trumpets, in conjunction with the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, 60 praising the Lord and blessing him, according to the directions of King David of Israel; 61 and they sang aloud, praising the Lord in songs of thanksgiving, “For his goodness and his glory are forever upon all Israel.” 62 And all the people sounded trumpets and raised a mighty shout, singing to the Lord for the erection of the house of the Lord. 63 Some of the levitical priests and chiefs of ancestral houses, old men who had seen the former house, came⁵ to the building of this one with weeping and great lamentation, 64 while many came with trumpets and a joyful noise, 65 so that the people were unable to hear the trumpets because of the weeping of the people; for the multitude sounded the trumpets so loudly, that the sound was heard from afar.

66 And when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to find out what the sound of the trumpets meant. 67 And they learned that the returned⁶ exiles were building the inner-sanctum for the Lord God of Israel. 68 So they approached Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the chiefs of the ancestral houses and said to them, “Let us build with you. 69 For we obey your Lord just as you do and we have been sacrificing to him ever since the days of King Esarhaddon⁷ of the Assyrians, who brought us here from Cuthia and Media.”⁸

70 But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the chiefs of the ancestral houses in Israel said to them, “You may not share in building the house for the Lord our God, 71 for we alone will build it for the Lord of Israel, just as Cyrus, and now Darius,⁹ the king of the Persians, has commanded us.”

72 But the peoples of the land pressed hard upon those in Judah, cut off their supplies, and hindered their building; 73 and by schemes and demagoguery and uprisings they prevented the completion of the building as long as King Cyrus lived. They were kept from building for two years, until the reign of Darius.

CHAPTER 6

Now in the second year of the reign of Darius, the prophets Haggai and Zechariah son of Iddo prophesied to the Judeans who were in Judah and Jerusalem; they prophesied to them in the name of the Lord God of Israel. 2 Then Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua son of Jozadak began to build the house of the Lord that is in Jerusalem, with the help of the prophets of the Lord who were with them.

3 At the same time, Tattenai the governor of Syria and Phoinike, and Shethar-bozenai, and their associates came to them and said, 4 “By whose order are you building this house and this roof, and finishing everything else? And who are the builders that are finishing these things?” 5 Yet the Judean elders were dealt with kindly, for the providence of the Lord was over the captives; 6 they were not prevented from building up till the time that Darius was informed about them and a report made.

7 A copy of the letter that Tattenai the governor of Syria and Phoinike, and Shethar-bozenai, and their associates the local rulers in Syria and Phoinike, wrote and sent to Darius:

8 To King Darius, greetings.

Let it be fully known to our lord the king that, when we went to the country of Judah and entered the city of Jerusalem, we found the Judean elders, who had been in exile, 9 building in the city of Jerusalem a great new house for the Lord, of hewn stone, with rafters being laid on the walls.¹⁰ 10 These operations are going on rapidly, and the work is prospering in their hands and being completed with all splendor and diligence. 11 Then we asked these elders, ‘At whose command are you building this house and laying the foundations of this structure?’ 12 In order that we might inform you in writing who the leaders are, we questioned them and asked them for a list of the names of those who are at their head.

13 They answered us, ‘We are the servants of the Lord¹ who created the heavens and the earth. 14 The house was built and finished many years ago by a great and strong king of Israel. 15 But when our fathers sinned against the Lord of Israel who is in the heavens, and provoked him, he gave them over into the hands of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babel,² king of the Chaldeans; 16 and they demolished the house, and burned it, and carried the people away captive to Babel. 17 But in the first year that Cyrus reigned over the country of Babelia, King Cyrus issued a decree that this house should be rebuilt. 18 And the holy vessels of gold and of silver, which Nebuchadnezzar had removed from the house in Jerusalem and stored in his own inner-sanctum, these King Cyrus took out again from the inner-sanctum in Babelia, and they were delivered to Zerubbabel³ and Sheshbazzar the governor⁴ 19 to whom he gave orders to take back all these vessels and put them in the inner-sanctum at Jerusalem, and that this inner-sanctum of the Lord should be rebuilt on its site. 20 So when Sheshbazzar arrived here, he laid the foundations of the house of the Lord that is in Jerusalem. Although it has been under construction from that time until now, it has not yet reached completion.’

21 Now therefore, O king, if it seems wise to do so, let search be made in the royal archives of our lord⁵ the king that are in Babel; 22 and if it is found that the house of the Lord in Jerusalem was constructed with the consent of King Cyrus, and if it is approved by our lord the king, let him send us directions concerning these things.

23 Then Darius commanded that search be made in the royal archives that were deposited in Babel. And in Ecbatana, the castle that is in the country of Media, a scroll⁶ was found in which the following was recorded:

24 In the first year of the reign of King Cyrus, he ordered that the Lord’s⁷ house in Jerusalem be built, where they sacrifice with perpetual fire; 25 its height to be sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits, with three layers of hewn stone⁸ and one layer of new native timber,⁹ and similarly an altar on which they may sacrifice to God;¹⁰ and the cost is to be paid from the treasury of King Cyrus;¹¹ 26 also that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, both of gold and of silver, which Nebuchadnezzar removed from the house in Jerusalem and carried away to Babel, should be restored to the house in Jerusalem, to be placed where they were originally.

27 So Darius commanded Tattenai the governor of Syria and Phoinike, and Shethar-bozenai, and their associates, and those who were appointed as local rulers in Syria and Phoinike, to keep away from the place, and to permit Zerubbabel, who was the servant of the Lord and governor of Judah, and the Judean elders to build this house of the Lord on its site.

28 “And I further decree that it be fully built, and that full effort be made to assist those who have returned from the exile of Judah, until the house of the Lord is finished; 29 and that a regular quota of the taxes levied in Coelesyria and Phoinike be scrupulously given to these men for sacrifices to the Lord, that is, to Zerubbabel the governor, for bulls and rams and lambs and kids,¹² 30 and likewise wheat and salt and wine and oil, regularly every year, without quibbling, for daily use as the priests in Jerusalem may indicate, 31 in order that libations

32 He decreed that if anyone should transgress or nullify any of the things herein written,³ that a beam should be torn out of the house of the perpetrator, who then should be impaled upon it,⁴ and all his property be confiscated for the king.⁵

33 “Therefore, may the Lord, whose name is there called upon, annihilate every king and nation that stretches out their hands to hinder or damage that house of the Lord in Jerusalem. 34 I, King Darius, have decreed that it be done with all diligence as here prescribed.”⁶

Then Tattenai the governor of Coesylria and Phoinike, and Shethar-bozenai, and their associates, following the orders of King Darius, 2 supervised the holy work with very great care, assisting the Judean elders and the temple-officers.⁷ 3 And the holy work prospered, while the prophets Haggai and Zechariah prophesied; 4 and they completed it in accordance with the command of the Lord God of Israel. So with the consent of Cyrus and Darius and Artaxerxes,⁸ kings of the Persians, 5 the holy house was finished by the twenty-third⁹ day of the month of Adar, in the sixth¹⁰ year of King Darius. 6 And the people of Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the rest of those who returned from exile who joined them, carried out the prescriptions stated in the book of Moses. 7 For at the dedication of the temple of the Lord, they offered 100 bulls, 200 rams, 400 lambs, 8 and twelve he-goats for the sin of all Israel, corresponding to the number of the twelve tribal leaders¹¹ of Israel; 9 and the priests and the Levites arrayed in their vestments, stood in their proper positions for the services of the Lord God of Israel as prescribed in the book of Moses; and the gatekeepers were at each gate.

10 The people of Israel who came from exile kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month, after the priests and the Levites were purified together. 11 Not all of the returned captives were purified, but the Levites were all purified together; 12 and they sacrificed the Passover lamb for all the sons of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. 13 It was eaten by the people of Israel who had returned from exile, all those who had separated themselves from the abominations of the peoples of the land and sought the Lord. 14 They also celebrated the Festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days, rejoicing before the Lord, 15 because he had changed the will of the king of the Assyrians¹² toward them, to strengthen their hands for the service of the Lord God of Israel.¹³

And the sums which they had been ordered by the king to pay the Judeans out of their tribute for the sacrifices, they refused to furnish, and they had the hipparchs zealously aiding them in this; and whatever else they could do to injure the Judeans either by themselves or through others, they did not hesitate to try. Therefore, the people of Jerusalem resolved to send an embassy to King Darius to accuse the Samaritans; the envoys were Zerubbabel and four other leaders. When the king learned from these envoys the complaints and charges which they brought against the Samaritans, he gave them a letter and sent them off to bring it to the eparchs of Syria and the council. It was written as follows: ‘King Darius to Taganas and Sanballat, the eparchs of the Samaritans, and Sadrakes and Buedon and the rest of their fellow-servants in Samaria. Zerubbabel, Hananiah and Mordecai, the envoys of the Judeans, have charged you with hampering them in building the {{TEMPLE}} and with failing to provide them with the sums which I commanded you to pay them for the expenses of the sacrifices. Therefore, it is my will that, when you have read this letter, you shall furnish them out of the royal treasury, from the tribute of Samaria, everything which they may need for the sacrifices as the priests request, in order that they may not leave off their daily sacrifices or their prayers to God on behalf of me and the Persians.’ These were the contents of the letter.”

8 The following is a copy of the written commission from King Artaxerxes that was delivered to Ezra the priest and reader of the law of the Lord:

9 Artaxerxes, king of kings⁷ to Ezra the priest and reader of the law of the Lord,⁸ greetings.

10 In accordance with my gracious decision,⁹ I have issued orders that those of the Judean nation, as well as of the priests and Levites, in our kingdom,¹⁰ may, if they freely choose to do so, go with you to Jerusalem. 11 Therefore, let as many as are so disposed leave with you, just as I and the seven friends who are my counselors have decided, 12 in order to investigate matters in Judah and Jerusalem,¹¹ in accordance with what is in the law of the Lord,¹² 13 and to carry to Jerusalem the gifts for the Lord of Israel¹³ that I and my friends have vowed to send,¹⁴ and to collect for the Lord in Jerusalem¹⁵ all the gold and silver that may be found in the country of Babelia,¹⁶ 14 together with what is given by the nation for the temple of their Lord which is in Jerusalem, both gold and silver, bulls and rams and lambs with their accessories, 15 so that sacrifices may be offered on the altar of their Lord that is in Jerusalem. 16 Whatever you and your brethren may desire to do with the gold and silver, perform it in accordance with the will of your God; 17 And you shall deliver¹⁷ the holy vessels of the Lord that are given you for the use of the temple of your God that is in Jerusalem.¹⁸ 18 And whatever else you may find necessary for the temple of your God, you must provide out of the royal treasury.

19 And indeed, I, King Artaxerxes,¹⁹ have commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phoinike to give him, without hesitation, whatever Ezra the priest and reader of the law of the Most High God²⁰ sends for, 20 up to a hundred talents of silver, and likewise up to a hundred cors of wheat, a hundred baths of wine, and salt in abundance.²¹ 21 Let everything prescribed in the law of God be scrupulously fulfilled for the Most High God, so that wrath may not fall upon the kingdom of the king and his sons.²² 22 You are also advised that no tribute or any other tax is to be laid on any of the priests or Levites or temple-singers or gatekeepers or temple-servants or persons²³ employed in this temple, nor anyone who has authority to impose any tax upon them.

Maasmah,² 44 Elnathan, Shemaiah,³ Jarib, Nathan, Elnathan,⁴ Zechariah, and Meshullam and Joiarib and Elnathan,⁵ who were leaders and learned men; 45 and I told them to go to Iddo,⁶ who was the official at the place of the treasurers, 46 and ordered them to tell Iddo and his brethren and the treasurers at that place to send us men capable of serving in the priestly office in the house of our Lord. 47 And by the mighty hand of our Lord they brought us competent men of the sons of Mahli son of Levi, son of Israel, namely Sherebiah⁷ with his sons and brethren—18⁸ men; 48 also Hashabiah and Hannan and his brother Jeshaiiah,⁹ of the sons of Hananiah, and their sons—20 men; 49 and of the temple-servants, whom David and the leaders had appointed for the service of the Levites—220 temple-servants; the list of all their names was on record.

50 There I proclaimed a fast for the young men before our Lord, to seek from him a prosperous journey for ourselves and for our children and the cattle that were with us. 51 For I was ashamed to ask the king for foot soldiers and cavalry as an escort to keep us safe from our adversaries; 52 for we had said to the king, “The power of our Lord is with those who seek him, and will support them in every way.” 53 So we again prayed to our Lord about these things, and we found him very merciful.

54 Then I selected twelve of the leading priests: Sherebiah¹⁰ and Hashabiah,¹¹ and ten of their brethren with them; 55 and I weighed out to them the silver and the gold and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king himself and his counselors and the nobles and all Israel had contributed. 56 I weighed out and gave to them 650 talents of silver, and silver vessels worth 100 talents, and 100 talents of gold, 57 and 20 golden bowls,¹² and 12¹³ bronze vessels of fine bronze that glittered like gold.

58 And I said to them, “You are holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the silver and the gold is a votive offering to the Lord, the Lord of our fathers. 59 Take care of them and guard them until you deliver them to the leading priests and the Levites, and to the chiefs of the ancestral houses of Israel, in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of our Lord.”

60 So the priests and the Levites who took the silver and the gold and the vessels that had been in Jerusalem, carried them to the temple of the Lord.

61 Leaving the Thera River¹⁴ on the twelfth day of the first month of the seventh year of the reign of (Arta)xerxes,¹⁵ we arrived in Jerusalem because of the mighty hand of our Lord, which was upon us; he protected us from every enemy on the way, and so we came to Jerusalem on the fifth month of the same year.¹⁶

62 When we had been there three days, the silver and the gold were weighed out and delivered in the house of our¹⁷ Lord to the priest Meremoth son of Uriah; 63 with him was Eleazar son of Phinehas, and with them were Jozabad¹⁸ son of Jeshua, and Moeth¹⁹ son of Binnui,²⁰ the Levites. 64 The entirety was counted and weighed, and the weight of everything was recorded at that very time. 65 And those who had returned from exile offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, 66 seventy-two²¹ lambs, and as a thank-offering²² twelve male goats—all as a sacrifice to the Lord. 67 They delivered the king’s orders²³ to the royal stewards and to the governors of Coelesyria²⁴ and Phoinike; and these officials honored the people and the temple of the Lord.

68 After these things had been done, the officials came to me and said, 69 “The people of Israel, and¹ the rulers, and the priests, and the Levites have not kept themselves apart from the aliens of the land and their pollutions, from the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Edomites.² 70 For they and their sons have married the daughters of these people, so that the holy race has been mixed with the alien peoples of the land; and from the beginning of this affair, even the leaders and the nobles have been sharing in this iniquity.”

71 As soon as I heard these things, I tore my garments and my holy mantle, and pulled out hair from my head and beard, and sat down in anxiety and grief. 72 And all those who were moved by the word of the Lord of Israel gathered around me, as I mourned over this iniquity, and I sat grief-stricken until the evening sacrifice.

73 Then I rose from my fast, still in my torn garments and my holy mantle; and kneeling down and stretching out my hands to the Lord,³ 74 I said:

“O Lord, I am mortified, confused before your face. 75 For our sins have risen higher than our heads, and our mistakes have mounted up to the heavens, 76 from the times of our fathers, and we are in great sin to this day. 77 And because of our sins and the sins of our fathers, we, together with our brethren and our kings and our priests, were given over to the kings of the earth, to the long-sword and exile and plundering, in shame until this day. 78 And now in some measure mercy has come to us from you, O Lord,⁴ to leave to us a root and a name in your holy place, 79 and to uncover a light for us in the house of the Lord our God, and to give us food in the time of our servitude. 80 Even in our bondage we were not forsaken by our Lord, but he brought us into favor with the Persians kings, so that they gave us food 81 and glorified the temple of our Lord, and raised Zion from desolation, to give us a stronghold⁵ in Judah and Jerusalem.

82 “And now, O Lord, having these things, what more can we ask? For we have transgressed your commandments, which you issued through your servants the prophets, saying, 83 ‘The land that you are entering to take possession of is a polluted land, polluted by its aliens who have filled it with their uncleanness. 84 Therefore do not give your daughters in marriage to their sons, and do not take their daughters for your sons; 85 you must never seek to have peaceful relations with them, so that you may be strong, and eat the good things of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your sons forever.’”

86 “And all that has happened to us has come about because of our evil deeds and our great sins. For you, O Lord, lifted the burden of our sins 87 and gave us such a root as this; but we turned back again to transgress your law by mixing with the uncleanness of the peoples of the land. 88 Were you not angry enough with us to destroy us without leaving a root or seed or name? 89 O Lord of Israel, you are faithful; for we are left as a root to this day. 90 Behold, we are now before you in our iniquities; yet we can no longer stand in your presence because of these things.”

91 While Ezra was praying and making his confession, weeping and lying on the ground before the temple, there gathered around him a very great crowd of men and women and youths from Jerusalem; for there was great weeping among the multitude.

92 Then Shecanaiah⁶ son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Israel,⁷ called out, and said to Ezra, “We have sinned against the Lord, and have married foreign women from the peoples of the land; but even now there is hope for Israel.⁸ 93 Let us swear an oath⁹ to the Lord about this, that we will put away all our foreign wives, together with their children, 94 as seems good to you and to all who obey the law of the Lord. 95 Rise up¹⁰ and take action, for it is your obligation, and we are with you to take strong measures.”

96 Then Ezra rose up and made the chiefs of the priests and Levites of all Israel swear that they would do this. And they swore to it.

¹⁰ [1Ezra8:95] others “as seems good to you.” And all who obeyed the law of the Lord rose and said to Ezra, “Rise up”

Then Ezra set out and went from the court of the temple to the chamber of Jehohanan¹ son of Eliashib,² 2 and spent the night³ there; and he did not eat bread or drink water, for he was mourning over the great iniquities of the multitude. 3 So a proclamation was made throughout Judah and Jerusalem to all who had returned from exile that they should assemble at Jerusalem, 4 and anyone who failed to meet there within two or three days, in accordance with the decision of the presiding elders, their livestock would be seized for sacrifice and the men themselves expelled from the multitude of those who had returned from the captivity.

5 Then the men of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin assembled at Jerusalem within three days; this was on the twentieth day of the ninth month. 6 And the entire multitude sat down in the plaza before the temple⁴ and the elders were also present,⁵ shivering because of the bad weather that prevailed.

7 Then Ezra stood up and said to them, “You have broken the law by marrying foreign women, and so have increased the sin of Israel. 8 Now then make confession and give glory to the Lord God of our fathers, 9 and do his will; separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from your foreign wives.”

10 Then all the multitude shouted and cried with a loud voice, “We will do as you have said. 11 But the multitude is great and it is winter, and we are not able to stand in the open air. This is not a work we can do in one day or two, for we have sinned too greatly in these things. 12 So let the leaders of the multitude stay, and let all those in our settlements who have foreign wives come at the designated time, 13 along with the elders and judges of each place, until the wrath of the Lord turns away from us on account of this matter.”

14 Jonathan son of Asahel and Jahzeiah⁶ son of Tikvah⁷ approved of this matter, and Meshullam and the Levite Shabbethai⁸ served with them as judges. 15 And those who had returned from exile acted in accordance with all this.

16 Then Ezra the priest chose for himself the chief men of their ancestral houses, all of them by name; and on the new moon of the tenth month they met together in closed session to investigate the matter. 17 And the cases of the men who had foreign wives lasted until the new moon of the first month.⁹

18 Of the priests, those who were brought in and discovered to have foreign wives were:

19 Of the sons of Jeshua son of Jozadak and his brethren: Maaseiah,¹⁰ Eliezar, Jarib,¹¹ and Jodan.¹² 20 They pledged themselves to put away their wives, and to offer rams in expiation of their error.

37 The priests and the Levites and the Israelites settled in Jerusalem and in the country. On the new moon of the seventh month, when the sons of Israel were in their settlements, 38 the whole multitude gathered with one accord in the plaza before the east gate of the temple;¹ 39 they requested Ezra the high² priest and reader to bring out the law of Moses that had been given by the Lord³ God of Israel. 40 So, on the new moon of the seventh month, Ezra the chief-priest brought the law, for the entire multitude to hear, including the men and women, and all the priests.

41 And he read aloud in the plaza before the temple gate from early morning until midday, in the presence of both men and women; and all the multitude gave attention to the law. 42 Ezra the priest and reader of the law stood on the wooden platform that had been prepared; 43 and beside him on his right stood Mattathiah, Shema, Ananiah, Azariah, Uriah, Hezekiah,⁴ and Baalsamus;⁵ 44 and on his left stood Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Lothasubus,⁶ Nabariah,⁷ and Zechariah. 45 Then, in the sight of the multitude, Ezra took up the book of the law in his hands; for he was seated in the place of honor in the presence of all. 46 When he opened the law, everyone stood erect. And Ezra⁸ blessed the Lord God Most High, the God of hosts,⁹ the Almighty.

47 And the multitude answered, “Amen, Amen.” They lifted up their hands, and fell to the ground and worshiped the Lord.

48 Jeshua and Anniuth¹⁰ and Sherebiah, Jamin,¹¹ Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah,¹² Maiannas¹³ and Kelita, Azariah and Jozabad,¹⁴ Hanan, Pelaiiah, the Levites, taught the law of the Lord and read the law of the Lord to the multitude,¹⁵ at the same time explaining what was read.

49 Then the governor¹⁶ said to Ezra the chief-priest and reader, and to the Levites who were teaching the multitude, with regard to all, 50 “This day is holy to the Lord” — now they were all weeping as they heard the law — 51 “so go your way, eat the fat and drink the sweet,¹⁷ and send portions to those who have none; 52 for the day is holy to the Lord; and do not be sorrowful, for the Lord will exalt you.”

53 The Levites commanded all the people, saying, “This day is holy; do not be sorrowful.”

54 Then they all went their way, to eat and drink and enjoy themselves, and to give portions to those who had none, and to make great rejoicing; 55 because they were inspired by the words in which they had been taught. And they assembled.
